

Digital Copyright protection on HDTV broadcasts would inhibit home users' free use rights of copyrighted material. We would be unable to record television for viewing at later times. You have no business taking this right away from the American consumer.